I Belong to No One is Gwen Wilson's story of all she lost and how hard she fought to survive. She suffered all these horrors but went on to become a successful happy woman. Gwen was illegitimate in a time when illegitimacy carried a stigma. She grew up in Sydney's western suburbs without a father and virtually without a mother.

Being an introvert, and living alone, there's little change, I still belong, the only problem is losing track with Sainsburys
Sometimes I feel myself drowning in my loneliness As a 'Third Culture Kid' my sense of belonging is to very mobile things like people and music so I'm quite plastic because the things that reinforce my identity are changeable by nature.

I BELONG TO NO ONE is one woman's story of all she lost and how hard she fought to survive and eventually triumph. A teenager in the 1970s, Gwen Wilson grew up in Western Sydney. It was a tough childhood. Illegitimate, fatherless - her mother in and out of psychiatric hospitals; it would have been easy for anyone to despair and give up.
